

Sackeena Gordon-Jones

---

Sackeena has expertise in organizational development, leadership, communication and executive coaching. She has led organizations toward better performance and enhanced ability to execute strategy. She has worked with leaders towards increased personal and professional productivity, while focusing on the multiple areas of their lives.

As a coach and consultant, Sackeena Gordon Jones brings a range of perspectives and focused approaches to clients who want to realize their dreams, become more, achieve more, learn more and live a more fulfilled life. She is a “Maximizer” at heart, with Strategic, Analytical and Focus themes as her strengths. This allows her to bring conceptual frameworks, proven methodologies, and trained curiosity to her work. Prior to Coaching, Sackeena served in a strategic business and management consultant role, which allowed her to consult with executive management to scope opportunities for performance improvement and strategic focus. She participated with department heads to apply and evaluate business strategies; provided guidance from the planning through implementation phases to ensure maintained integrity while intervention strategies are being developed and deployed.

Gifted by Holy Spirit to teach, and administrate, she uses these gifts to edify the Body of Christ. She has taught in churches, conferences, women's correctional institutes and in the organizations for over 14 years. As the wife of an ordained minister, she has served in several ministerial roles, including ministry coach and director of youth ministries.

“I believe that we each have a purpose that we were born to realize, which shows up through our strengths, values and passion. When we're cognizant of this, we can develop the ability to realize our personal and professional visions, if we commit ourselves to not settling for anything less than fulfillment. Then we will move toward our goals and experience the greatness inside of us, and the incredible contribution that we make to the organization and world by being who we truly are to be!”

- Sackeena Gordon-Jones

EXPERIENCE AND CREDENTIALS

Sackeena is a Certified Coach through Duke University's, Business Coaching program. She holds a undergraduate degree from Adelphi University. She accomplished her post graduate biblical studies at Manhattan Bible College affiliates' Tabernacle Bible Institute. She has held adjunct faculty position at the City University of New York(CUNY), LaGuardia College. She is also a certified Parent Educator, and The Leadership Challenge facilitator. She is a qualified professional with MBTI, and certified with FIRO Element B assessments and LPI instruments. She is an active member of the International Coach Federation, and International Association of Coaches. Sackeena also teaches Bible Study, provides mentor and spiritual coaching, serves on the PTA board, and enjoys the outdoors and time with her family.